FREE TOOL · AUTOMATIC PET FEEDER

Is your automatic pet feeder quote fair?

The live version of this check, at rimogogo.com/check/smart-pet-feeder, places a unit price against the 31 public factory listings for a portion-controlled dry-food dispenser, collected from Made-in-China on 2026-10-30. Nothing is sent anywhere; the comparison runs in the browser. Below is the band it compares against, as retrieved.

Every band in this sample

WHAT THE LISTING SAYS	LISTINGS	MIDDLE HALF (P25–P75)	MEDIAN	FULL RANGE
Automatic, timer or programmable only	18	$22.88 – $90.92	$52.32	$6.50 – $328.00
App, WiFi or Bluetooth control	8	$17.88 – $66.37	$32.81	$15.85 – $328.00
Camera or video monitoring	5	$27.75 – $346.50	$51.00	$27.50 – $378.00

Bands are built from the midpoint of each listing's published low–high range. Listings quoting a price per kilogram or per set are excluded. Tiers come from what the listing title states, not from the factory's own claim.

What the same product sells for 56 US retail listings for automatic pet feeders, retrieved 2026-11-01: middle half $49.97–$120.24, median $67.49. Blended across specs, the retail median sits at 1.7× the factory median — that is the size of the pot, not the margin any single product earns.

What this check cannot tell you

1. A listing price is an asking price. It is the start of a negotiation, not the end of one.
2. Two quotes with the same product name can be different products: pump brand, bowl grade, motor life, certification, packaging.
3. Freight, duty, defects and returns are not in the unit price. A quote that is cheap here can still lose money on arrival.

What the check does tell you is whether the number you were given is normal, high, or worth a second conversation — before you wire a deposit.

Send the quote to rimo@rimogogo.com and we return one line within a business day (UTC+8): where it sits, and the two items carrying the gap. No fee, no call, no signup.
